

Developing The 'Self Transforming' Leader

Growing Leaders For An Increasingly Complex World
A FREE one day seminar by the andpartnership introducing a new approach to leadership development– 'Future-Engage-Deliver'.

Existing methods of leadership development aren't sufficient any more– in this complex and challenging world we need a new approach or risk leaders being 'in over their heads'. In this stimulating and thought provoking day, Alison Maxwell, Director andpartnership, will share recent research on 'Self-Transforming' leadership and how leaders must change themselves before they can fundamentally change their organisations.

Steve Radcliffe, renowned leadership coach and best selling author, will share the 'Future-Engage-Deliver' leadership model that has transformed leadership capability in organisations as diverse as Unilever, Eon, BBC, First Direct, Boots and the Cabinet office.

He is joined by Stephen Lehane, Group HR Director at Alliance Boots.

Stephen will share how 'Future-Engage-Deliver' has been applied with Boots leaders and its impact on their business.

A Day for Chief Executives, HR Directors and Leadership Development professionals interested in expanding leadership capability in their organisation.
